

Name: Ali E. Canbay, M.D.
Born on: 30.11.1969
Born in: Malatya, Turkey

Professor of Medicine
Deputy director of the Department of Gastroenterology and Hepatology, University Hospital Essen and Head of the Research Program for Exp. Hepatology
University Hospital Essen, Germany

Address: Dept. of Gastroenterology and Hepatology
University Hospital of Essen
Hufelandstr. 55
45122 Essen
Germany

Clinical and scientific training and career:

2/2012: Chief of the Intermediate Care ward (IMC)
7/2010: Specialty "Gastroenterology"
6/2009: Deputy director of the Department of Gastroenterology and Hepatology, University Hospital Essen
10/2008: Additional qualification for "Internistic Intensive Care Medicine"
8/2007-06/2009: Senior Physician, Department for Gastroenterology and Hepatology, University Hospital Essen
6/2006: Consultant "Internal Medicine"
1/2004-08/2007: Resident, Department for Gastroenterology and Hepatology, University Hospital Essen
9/2001-12/2003: Training in physiology and molecular biology in the laboratory of Professor Gregory J. Gores, current Division Chair – Gastroenterology, Mayo Clinic College of Medicine, Rochester, MN, USA
2/1998-09/2001: Internship I. Dept. of Medicine, University of Essen
1993-1997: Medical School, University of Bochum
1991-1993: Medical School, Semmelweis University Budapest, Hungary

Clinical focus: Non-alcoholic Fatty Liver Disease (NAFLD), acute liver failure, liver transplantation, infectious diseases (chronic viral hepatitis), Cholangiocarcinoma, Hepatocellular carcinoma, Endoscopy

Scientific focus: The role of apoptosis and fibrosis in pathogenesis of acute and chronic liver diseases
Head of Acute Liver Study Group Germany (ALFSGG)

Selected Awards and prizes:

- | | |
|----------|--|
| 06/2014 | Visiting Professor Ulaanbaatar (Mongolia) |
| 11/2012: | Invitation as Visiting Scholar (Professorship) at the University of California, San Diego (USA) |
| 11/2012 | AASLD Presidential Poster (Increasing adiponectin is paralleled by reduction of fetuin-A in patients with NAFLD after bariatric surgery) |
| 9/2012 | The Hiromasa Ishi Memorial Award of the International Society for Biomedical Research on Alcoholism (ISBRA) (Japan) |
| 9/2009 | EASL travel grant (Bologna) |
| 4/2008 | EASL travel grant (Mailand) |
| 05/2004: | Edward Kendall Award (Mayo Clinic Rochester, MN; USA) |